Educated in the United Kingdom, where he graduated from De Montfort University with honours in marketing, Jeremy Ansell's publishing career began with Centaur Holdings PLC, one of the UK's largest independent business publishing and information companies.

Mr. Ansell subsequently established his own events management company, and went on to launch an independent record label, Agnosia Records Ltd., where he signed a publishing deal with Sony UK.

After arriving in Canada in 2001, and conducting extensive market research and viability studies for a new business venture, Mr. Ansell launched his innovative Got My Kids™ concept, which immediately took off, and continues to gain momentum and recognition from franchise industry pundits, advertisers and parents.

Mr. Ansell lives in Richmond Hill ON, with his wife Eden, an audiologist, and three young sons, Sam, Jake and Max.
